Dr. Kerley opened with the reminder that the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) has approved GCCC to offer the Technology Management bachelors degree. Because of this addition, it has been speculated whether or not to change the College’s name in order to recognize its expanding mission. If it is decided to change the name, the chosen name will have to be approved by the following groups accordingly: District Board of Trustees, Department of Education, Florida Legislature, and SACS. Dr. Kerley thanked Mr. Chris Thomes and the College Name Change Committee for their efforts.

In his presentation, Mr. Thomes noted that all college groups were represented on the Name Change Committee and that the media assisted the College in getting the word out to the community about the name change. An online survey was posted for one month with employees, students, and community members participating. Of the 1,700+ responses received, 74 percent were in favor of changing the College’s name, with 26 percent against a name change.

Mr. Bennett stated that since other schools have similar names, there may be some legal issues with using the name “Gulf Coast College,” but advised that the College would have a strong argument against any case.

Mr. Isler called on each trustee and on Ms. Stokes to voice an opinion. Following discussion, all trustees unanimously agreed that the new name should be Gulf Coast State College. Ms. Wood suggested including “serving your community” in the new logo so that our mission would still be visible.
